About Eucharistic Congresses: Eucharistic congresses have been introduced into the life of the Church in recent years as a special manifestation of Eucharistic worship. They should be considered as a kind of “station” to which a particular community invites an entire local Church or to which an individual local Church invites other Churches of a single region or nation or even of the entire world. The purpose is that together the members of the Church join in the deepest profession of some aspect of the Eucharistic mystery and express their worship publicly in the bond of charity and unity. Such congresses should be a genuine sign of faith and charity by reason of the total participation of the local Church and the association with it of the other Churches. (EWOM §109)

“May our urgent prayer, Stay with us, Lord, echo throughout the land as we, through the Gift of the Eucharist, bring forth the love of God with all our heart, with all our soul, and with all our mind.”

Bishop John Noonan
